- PANDEMIC TALKS

Quarantine has disrupted the order people have created in their lives and forced them to establish a new order. People, the idea of freedom found in their lives was finished by quarantine. People had to continue their lives in a new order. This process caused people to produce a new idea and thought. Quarantine has given people an opportunity to rediscover themselves. Some people went over the shortcomings they found in themselves, and some took care of a new hobby for themselves. A few shortcomings were noticed by people during the quarantine time. This shortcoming was the lack of a social media application where he could socialize and tell about his experiences with the disease. The social media platform where they will tell about their experiences in quarantine also emerged in this process. A new social media platform, where people can support each other and tell about the process they are going through, has been created and presented to people's appreciation.

The main purpose of Pandemic Talk application is to socialize people and their experience with the disease. To create a platform for them to transmit. People can share the idioms they live with the disease under the titles they create among themselves. The right and wrong about the disease are discussed by the users. With experience, the truth is conveyed to people by doctors. If they want, people can open a broadcast and share their experiences. A mobile application that combines both a publishing platform and a forum site.
